GIOSUE' MARONGIU - WORLD PREMIERE: " MINDART "
"MENTAL-ART" OF THE NEW MILLENNIUM by GIOSUE' MARONGIU

In June 2002, Giosue' Marongiu conceived his novel "L'Ultima Conoscenza" (The Ultimate Knowledge), published in May 2016 by Aletti Editore, ISBN: 978-88-591-3506-7.

His mind conceived a futuristic sci-fi conjecture, described through his main character "Jason".

This is the incipit:
"In a cold December night in 2020, J.W., suffering from a severe migraine, attached to his forehead two suction cups connected to an electro-stimulator, commonly used for relaxation, in order to cure, or at least alleviate, his painful migraines. While working on his PC, he mistakenly inserted the USB plug of the electro-stimulator into one of the ports where he usually connected his 1,000 Peta-byte removable hard drives. At that moment, a large mass of brain waves taken from his cranial cortex was channeled into his computer's operating system. To his great amazement, the computer began to process the data, and after a few minutes he saw appear on the monitor the images of what he had seen just before: the monitor, the keyboard and the desk at which he was sitting. It didn't take him long to realize that his operating system had created a new program capable of transforming his brain waves into images..."

25 years later, he has turned this fantasy into a tangible reality, made of matter: his thoughts taking concrete form as Works of Art - frames and animated videos generated by his mind, without using a mouse.

This new technology now available on the market - "EMOTIV EPOC X 14 Channel EEG" - has projected him into the future of Art; directly from his thought to this 13th step of his avant-garde artistic research: "MINDART".

We look forward to seeing many of you.
